T-Hrvatski Telekom

Irena Jolić Šimović appointment Chief Executive of T-Com

T-Hrvatski Telekom ('T-HT' or 'the Group, Reuters: THTC.L, HT.ZA; Bloomberg: THTC LI, HRTA CZ), Croatia's leading telecommunications provider, announces that Irena Jolić Šimović, Member of the Management Board has been appointed Chief Executive of T-Com, the Group's fixed network and broadband operation, with effect from 1 October 2008. Irena is replacing Ivana Šoljan, who has resigned to take up a senior position with an international tourist venture.

Irena joined T-HT in 1998 and four years later she took the position of Director for Corporate Strategy and Business Development. In 2006 she was appointed to the Management Board and became Chief Human Resources Officer. Prior to joining T-HT she held managerial positions with Croatian Radio and Television and State Administration.

Branka Skaramuča returns to the Management Board and the role of Chief Human Resources Officer for T-HT. For the last four years she has been closely involved in the rapid growth and development of the Group's mobile communications operation, T-Mobile, where she was a member of T-Mobile's Management Board and Chief Human Resources Officer.

Branka joined T-HT in 2002 and for two years was Chief Human Resources Officer and a member of the T-HT Management Board. Prior to joining T-HT, Branka worked for PLIVA, a leading regional pharmaceutical company for 17 years in a number of marketing, managerial and human resources roles.

Ivica Mudrinić, President of the Management Board and T-HT Chief Executive, said:

"I am delighted to appoint Irena as T-Com's Chief Executive. She has an excellent track record both at the strategic and managerial level and I look forward to working closely with her at this exciting time for the Group."

"I am also very pleased to welcome Branka back to the Management Board. She has made a major contribution to the rapid and successful development of T-Mobile and now will be managing the human resources function at the Group level"

"On behalf of both the Management and Supervisory Boards, I would like to thank Ivana for her substantial contribution to the Group over the last six years. Notably she led the Group's introduction of broadband, which now has more than 400,000 mainlines. We all wish her well in her new role."
